

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. The total amount of currency issued under the act of July 12, 1870, to October 1, 1871, is $22,333,990, some $20,000,000 of which has been furnished to new banks, and the remainder to existing banks which had not received their full quota, or which had increased their capital to meet the growing demands of business.

The condition of the Southern States since the passage of the act has been such as to preclude the possibility of their taking any considerable portion of the circulation provided, and consequently the number of banks organized in the South is small. This fact made it possible, after the expiration of the year specified in section one of the act of July 12, 1870, to organize additional banks in the Western States, and accordingly nearly all of the really meritorious applications in those States were granted. I estimate that the Western and Northwestern States can be fully supplied and still leave from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 for the Southern States when they are in condition to take it.

In New Orleans a disposition has been manifested to adopt the national banking system generally, and while but two new banks have been organized there, three of the old banks have reorganized as national banks, and it is understood that several others are contemplating a similar change. One obstacle in the way of such changes is the limitation fixed by the act to the amount of circulation that can be furnished to any one bank, to wit, $500,000. Quite a number of the New Orleans State banks employ a very much larger capital, and could advantageously employ a much larger circulation. The propriety of removing this restriction in certain cases is respectfully suggested.

Since my last report but one bank has been established on a gold basis—the First National Gold Bank of San Francisco—with a capital of $1,000,000. It is presumed that the success of this institution is not so flattering as to induce the organization of others of a similar character, though, in view of the obstacles and the opposition which it meets, it holds its own and is gradually winning its way into public confidence.

The tenacity with which the Pacific States adhere to a gold currency is quite notable. Whether it is equally praiseworthy, is another thing. It is not clear that those States derive any substantial benefit from the course they have pursued, and it is beginning to be manifest that the United States are not at all benefited by it. The substitution of a paper currency in California and the other gold-producing States for their present hard money would probably set free for the use of the Government and the whole country some thirty or forty millions of gold, and at the same time provide those communities with a more economical, active, and accommodating circulating medium.

I recommend that provision be made for the establishment of national banks in California and the other Pacific States upon a legal-tender basis, and that the law be so modified as to enable them to cope successfully with other banking institutions at present doing business in those States.

There is nothing especial to note in the history or management of the banks during the year. A few cases of dishonesty have occurred, but none of any magnitude. The examinations made under the provisions of section 54 of the currency act have been instrumental in developing irregular and dishonest practices in time to prevent loss to the bank in quite a number of cases, and there is no doubt of their efficacy in securing judicious management and general compliance with all the important requirements of the act.

Occasional complaint is made that national banks are in the habit of charging higher rates of interest than the laws of the several States authorize, but as the law itself provides a remedy or a penalty for usury, and places it at the disposal of the complainant, I have not felt called upon to take any official action on the subject. While nothing will justify a bank for violating any provision of law, I desire, nevertheless, to call the attention of Congress again to the very high rates of taxation that are imposed on national banks in most of the States. It is asserted by bank officers, and admitted to be true, that local taxation is so high in some of the States as to make it impossible to lend money at legal rates without loss to the bank. It is probably true that, in some instances, the object of the legislature in imposing these burdens is a hostile one, intended to drive national banks out of existence, while, in other cases, onerous taxes are imposed under the impression that the banks are making enormous profits, and can afford to divide them with the State. I am of opinion that the public good would justify some limitation to the power of the States to tax the shares of national banks.

The average tax paid to the United States is 2½ per cent. on the capital of the banks, and it seems to me that the equivalent of this tax ought to be sufficient for the States in which the banks are located.

I recommend that the Comptroller of the Currency be clothed with power to act in cases where the capital of a bank has been seriously impaired by losses or otherwise, either by requiring the capital to be made whole by assessment of the shareholders, or by requiring the bank to wind up its affairs within a reasonable time if its capital is not made good. Also to wind up the affairs of any bank which is not engaged in the transaction of a legitimate and reputable business, or which has obtained an organization through false or fraudulent representations.

I think it would have a tendency to check the circulation of counterfeit notes, if national banks were required to stamp all such notes, when presented at the counter of the bank, with the word "counterfeit," and I suggest the expediency of legislative provision for that purpose.

The circulation furnished to national banks has now been outstanding for an average period of about five years, and it is being returned in constantly increasing amounts for new notes. Since the organization of the Bureau to September 30, the total amount returned for destruction is $54,546,345, of which $23,948,827 were returned during the last year. The handling of these notes involves much care and labor, and requires an addition to the present available force of the office.

Carefully prepared tables will be found in the appendix, as follows:

1st. The number of banks, amount of capital, bonds, and circulation in each State and Territory.

2d. The number and amount of each denomination of bank-notes issued, redeemed, and outstanding.

3d. The number and amount of each denomination of gold bank-notes issued and outstanding.

4th. Statement of amount and different kinds of bonds held to secure circulation.

5th. Banks in the hands of receivers.

6th. National banks in liquidation which have deposited lawful money to redeem their circulation, and taken up their bonds.

7th. National banks in liquidation for the purpose of consolidating with other banks.

8th. Reserve tables.

9th. List of clerks employed during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1871.

10th. Expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1871.

SPECIE PAYMENTS.

The time when, and the means by which, specie payments may be resumed have for some years been the subject of much anxious consideration and of earnest public discussion. The problem is one of general and pervading interest, closely connected with the public welfare, and, like all questions of public importance, has called forth a great variety of opinions. Writers who have made a study of this and kindred branches of political economy, with few exceptions, agree that when in time of suspension of specie payments there has been a very considerable increase of paper money, there must be a corresponding decrease before specie payments can be safely resumed.

Assuming the paper currency to be redundant, or in excess of the normal demands of trade, the excess must be retired in order to bring the currency up to a specie standard. This redundancy has been attributed to the currency of the United States by a majority of those who have written and spoken on the subject since the year 1864, and the remedy prescribed has been "contraction."

So prevalent was this view of the case at one time that, in 1866, Congress, in obedience to what was regarded as a sound and correct principle of political economy, provided by law for a gradual withdrawal and cancellation of United States notes to the extent of four millions a month; but, owing to the funding operations of the Treasury, this provision was not carried into effect until the latter part of the year 1867, when the process of contraction was commenced. Just at this time, also, commenced a stringency in the money market, which increased in severity as contraction went on. To the people the stringency seemed to be produced by the contraction, though it is now evident that other causes conspired to aid in producing the result. The hard times, however, were generally attributed to the depletion of the money markets by the actual withdrawal of ten millions of currency in six months, and its continued reduction at the rate of four millions per month thereafter.

This opinion had all the force of conviction in the public mind, and found its appropriate expression in an act of Congress, which became a law, in February, 1868, prohibiting any further reduction of the currency, and so the matter now stands. If there is a superabundance of currency, which must be retired before a specie basis can be reached, the first step toward specie payments must be the repeal of the act of February, 1868. If public sentiment will not permit or sanction such action by Congress, it will be because the people do not wish for resumption at the expense of contraction. If this is the only road to specie payments, it remains closed by the mandate of the people.

In direct antagonism to the demand for specie payments at all hazards, and without regard to consequences, is the doctrine of a currency permanently divorced from a specie basis. It is argued, and with some degree of plausibility, that the convertibility of paper money into coin on demand, has always been an unsound element of currency, because it has never been practicable when actually required. Under any system of currency of which credit forms a part, convertibility is but little more than a name, satisfactory enough as long as the times are easy and confidence prevails, but exceedingly dangerous and mischievous when the money market is deranged, and distrust has taken the place of confidence. The conversion of paper is seldom demanded in any considerable amounts until credit is wavering, and everything is looked upon with suspicion. Then, the demand is not limited to the 25 or 30 per cent. which the banks may have in reserve. Loss of confidence, and the knowledge that provision for payment is only partial, are precursors of panics, suspensions, failures, and all the disasters incident to such a state of affairs. It is a maxim in military science that a line of fortifications is just as strong as the weakest place in it, and no stronger. So, in finance, a system is never safe that is vulnerable at any point, or under any circumstances. Panics are the weak places in all theories or systems of convertible currencies, of which credit forms a constituent element.

Absolute convertibility can be secured only by locking up the specie; and for each dollar under lock and key, issuing a paper promise to pay a dollar on demand. In this case the note is only the title to the thing, and there should not be more titles than there are things; in other words, there must not be more paper dollars than there are specie dollars. The convertibility hobby has been ridden to death. The uniform failure of all attempts to secure it should admonish bankers and financiers that there may be such a thing as progress and improvement even in banking and currency. The Bank of England may be regarded as furnishing the conditions most favorable to the convertibility theory, yet in every time of real need its charter has been disregarded, and the bank has been obliged to suspend. The history of the banks in the United States is but a series of suspensions, occurring as often as conversion was demanded.

Ultimate solvency is of far greater importance to the community than convertibility, and the liberal and judicious use of credit is of far more value in the commercial world than the instant command of gold and silver. Credit is the great element of modern progress. Notwithstanding the abuses to which it has been subjected, it has rejuvenated the world. The prosperity of the United States is, in great measure, due to this life-giving power. Currency based on actual deposits of coin would have given no opportunity for enterprise, no room for growth. Heterogeneous as the currency of this country has been, false and delusive as its promises have proved, yet the element of credit which has entered so largely into its composition has proved an inestimable benefit. Specie has not been at the bottom of this prosperity, for we have had but little of it, comparatively, and whenever the demand has been made for the redemption of currency, the banks have been obliged to suspend. We owe our welfare and progress to the liberal, and not always judicious, use of credit, more than to anything else. And particularly is this true of the last six or eight years. During that period we have had a currency based exclusively upon credit. It has held out no false promise; and, as a consequence, we have been exempt from all currency panics or disturbances.

Those who favor the views herein expressed, maintain and believe that our currency system, as at present established, is the best and safest we have ever had. They believe that the premium on gold may be gradually reduced in the next few years, as it has been in the past, until it shall become practicable to obtain coin for paper, in such reasonable amounts as may be required in trade by exchange at rates merely nominal. They make a distinction between "convertibility by redemption," which is the generally accepted idea, and convertibility by exchange, which is their idea. This, they affirm, would bring all the benefits of resumption, without any of its attendant dangers. The plan involves the recognition of bullion dealers, who shall be entitled to regular and legitimate commissions, premiums, or profits. The assent of the public to this proposition relieves the banks and the Government from the necessity and the burden of furnishing coin for nothing. Trade would soon adapt itself to this basis, would calculate and allow these premiums or commissions, and would take out of our system a dangerous, unnecessary, and delusive element.

A theory which has found much favor in the last few years, is embodied in the proposition that "the currency should be maintained at its present volume until the industrial and commercial interests of the country shall recover from the effects of the war, and until the natural growth in population and wealth, the revival of enterprise, the increased facilities of trade, and the expansion of our borders, shall create a legitimate use for the whole amount of currency now outstanding." Just how long this will take has not been stated, and probably is not susceptible of demonstration; but the idea is a plausible one, and commends itself to popular favor, as affording an easy and gradual transition to specie payments without any of the inconveniences and hardships associated in the public mind with contraction.

The fundamental idea underlying this theory is that the conditions necessary to growth exist already. It presupposes that the country may prosper; that trade, industry, and enterprise may flourish; that labor may have a bountiful reward; that individuals and communities may grow rich and increase in wealth and substance, notwithstanding a superabundant, irredeemable, depreciated currency. If this assumption is correct, it is hardly necessary to look forward to the time when natural growth shall absorb the surplus currency, and specie payments shall come in the course of nature.

If the currency, in its present condition, is so far conducive to prosperity as to make it probable that, at no distant day, the country will actually need all the paper currency now in circulation, the inference would go far toward destroying the force of the usual arguments in favor of early resumption, as it would establish the fact that specie payments are not essential to the growth and prosperity of the country. If the assumption is not correct, the whole proposition fails; for without growth and increase in resources and trade, the currency would forever remain in excess.

Granting, however, that the business of the country is likely to attain such dimensions as to require the entire present volume of currency for its accommodation, there is another aspect of the case to be considered. When the point is reached at which the currency ceases to be redundant, the supposition is that it will rapidly appreciate to par with gold, and that gold will then resume its functions as currency. When this takes place, one of two things is likely to occur: There must be a very considerable inflation, in consequence of the addition of gold and silver to the currency, or there must be a reduction in the volume of paper money. In other words, if there shall not be inflation, there must be contraction; but it will be contraction as a consequence, not as a cause; contraction brought about by natural and self-acting causes, not by act of Congress, nor by the exercise of arbitrary power in any quarter. This would be a legitimate result, and, if it should take place, would not be liable to the same objections that are urged against contraction now.

But whether the coin shall be added to the paper, and so swell the volume of currency and produce inflation, or whether a proportion of the paper shall be retired, as the coin comes forth to take its place as a constituent part of the currency, the probabilities seem to be that, with a wise administration of the finances, paper and specie will gradually and surely, though perhaps slowly, approximate to an equality in value.

If it were possible, in considering the practicability of resumption, to distinguish between circulation and deposits, making the former payable in specie, while the latter should be payable in kind, much of the difficulty and danger attendant on a return to specie payments would be removed.

Although the legal obligation to pay coin or lawful money for deposits, in the absence of any stipulation on the subject, is not disputed, yet it is probable that the banks, by concerted action, would have no difficulty in arranging with their customers to receive for their deposits the same kind of money deposited. This understanding is quite general between the banks and their customers, outside of two or three of the large eastern cities. If the banks in those cities would agree to settle their balances, through their clearing houses, in current funds, much of the difficulty of making deposits likewise payable in current funds would be obviated. Ordinarily those very banks pay all deposits in miscellaneous funds, and the obligation to pay specie or lawful money only recurs to plague them when they are least able to meet the demand.

It would be practicable to place the currency on a specie basis long before it would be possible to place the entire demand liabilities of the banks on a similar footing. In New York, provision could easily be made for thirty-four millions of bank notes; but, according to established usage there, specie payments would involve provision for over $200,000,000 deposits. It is this practice which renders the finances of the country so unsteady and unreliable, to wit, the false principles which underlie the financial management of the great centers of money and trade.

If New York cannot maintain specie payments according to her own standard, they cannot be maintained successfully elsewhere for any length of time under any circumstances, and hence it is a matter of vital importance to the country at large to scrutinize carefully, not only the grounds upon which this assumed obligation is based, but also the ability of the parties to carry it into practical effect. During the last five years there have been no apprehensions in any quarter of a currency panic. That element of disaster has happily been wanting in the disturbances which have characterized the money market from time to time; and yet it is an admitted fact that we have more than once been upon the verge of a panic which threatened the most disastrous consequences. There have been not less than three occasions during the last five years in which, if the New York banks had been paying specie, according to their interpretation of specie payments, they would have been obliged to suspend from inability to pay, not their circulating notes, but their deposits; and this at a time when specie payments, if they had prevailed throughout the country, could have been maintained at every other point, as far as the currency was concerned.

To the people the establishment of the currency on a sound and solvent basis is the one important thing. It makes but little difference to them whether depositors in the large cities are entitled to receive specie for deposits made in currency. This is not a vital point in public estimation, and it may safely be left to private contract, as many other equally important questions are. The inquiry recurs, then, conceding the desirability of resuming specie payments, must all efforts in that direction be retarded and imperiled by the undertaking of a few banks, few in number, but powerful by virtue of their central position, to place deposits upon the same basis? If any substantial interest were sacrificed, or any valuable principle violated, by the abandonment of this dogma, there might be some reason for taking the risk; but if deposits could be made payable in kind, that is, in current funds, lawful money, or gold, as the case might be, the depositor could have no just ground of complaint, while one great obstacle to the resumption and maintenance of specie payments would be removed.

In the solution of these questions lies one of the most important problems of the day; but, in view of the various theories advanced, it seems probable that the true solution will come only with time.

The doctrine of contraction as a means to an end for the purpose of hastening a return to specie payments, has been condemned by the people. It has been tried and rejected, and may be considered as abandoned.

The proposition to wait until the business of the country shall expand to such an extent as to require the whole volume of paper money in circulation, involves no immediate action, meets the views of the public more fully than any other plan, and is probably safer than any scheme which requires legislative interference.

It is also very evident that the undertaking, heretofore considered, to place the entire currency debt of the country on a specie basis, by the payment of deposits in coin, would be an unwise and mischievous thing, a vain and futile attempt, which would lead to panics and failures in the future as in the past. If specie payments are to be resumed, let the effort be concentrated upon the currency, and leave deposits and all other currency debts to be adjusted by private contract. As the first step in this direction, the associated banks in all cities should be required to settle balances, through their clearing-houses, in current funds.

The discrediting of national-bank currency, which is the consequence of their present regulations in this respect, is unwise and injurious, and creates a distinction between bank currency and lawful money which is unnecessary and which ought not to exist.

It would be a wise measure to provide for the extension of the national banking system wherever capital and trade may invite, withdrawing, if it should seem desirable, United States notes, as fast as bank-notes are issued.

A well-managed national bank, with a bona fide paid-up capital, is not a dangerous institution in any community. A deliberate, legitimate investment of capital in banking by men who, in a majority of cases, have had the sagacity, the enterprise, and the prudence to make their own money, men who are usually the most reliable members of society, can hardly be considered unwise, certainly not injurious to the interests of the people in whose midst it is made.

A national bank affords a safe place for the deposit of all the little hoards and savings which otherwise would be unemployed. It aggregates these into a fund which becomes useful and powerful in stimulating trade and enterprise.

There is reason to believe that the national banks organized during the last year in places previously without banking facilities have had no little instrumentality in helping to bear the strain that comes with every autumn. They have paid out in their several localities the currency furnished to them, while they have called out and utilized for the public good large sums of money previously distributed among and held by the people in small amounts; and in this they have contributed to the annual supply of money required in the West, and which otherwise would have been drawn from the eastern cities.

I therefore do not hesitate to recommend that provision be made for the organization of national banks wherever they may be needed.

If, with each million of bank-notes issued, a million of legal-tenders is withdrawn, the time will come when the circulation to be redeemed will be so much larger in proportion than the funds for its redemption, that the latter must appreciate in value, while the enhanced cost of redemption will be a wholesome check upon bank issues.

If free banking is made practicable upon the basis suggested, any further increase or inflation of the currency will be rendered impossible, and every hundred thousand dollars of bank-notes so issued will have a tendency to accelerate the resumption of specie payments, while, at the same time, it will make the process gradual, and throw the responsibility and the burden upon the banks and the capital of the countrys where they legitimately belong. These are agencies which can tell with unerring certainty when and how to act, and the precise moment when it will be safe and wise to re-establish the business and finance, of the country on a specie basis.

Respectfully submitted.

HILAND R. HULBURD,
Comptroller of the Currency.

Hon. GEO. S. BOUTWELL,
Secretary of the Treasury.

REPORT

THE COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE,
Washington, November 21, 1871.

SIR: During the fiscal year covered by the following report Hon. C. Delano was Commissioner from July 1 to November 1, 1870, and Hon. A. Pleasonton from January 3 to its close. During November and December, 1870, and until January 3, 1871, I was Acting Commissioner by reason of the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Delano.

I have the honor to transmit herewith the tabular statements made up from the accounts of this office, which the Secretary of the Treasury is required to lay before Congress, as follows:

Table A, showing the receipts from each specific source of revenue and the amounts refunded in each collection district, State, and Territory of the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871.

Table B, showing the number and value of internal revenue stamps ordered monthly by the Commissioner, the receipts from the sale of stamps and the commissions allowed on the same; also the number and value of stamps for tobacco, cigars, snuff, distilled spirits, and fermented liquors, issued monthly to collectors during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871.

Table C, showing the territorial distribution of internal revenue from various sources in the United States for the fiscal years ended June 30, 1864, 1865, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, and 1871.

Table D, showing the aggregate receipts from each collection district, State, and Territory for the fiscal years ended June 30, 1863, 1864, 1865, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, and 1871.

Table E, showing the total collections from each specific source of revenue for the fiscal years ended June 30, 1863, 1864, 1865, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, and 1871.

Table F, showing the ratio of receipts from specific sources to the aggregate of all collections for the fiscal years ended June 30, 1864, 1865, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, and 1871.

Table G, an abstract of reports of district attorneys concerning suits and prosecutions under the internal revenue laws during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871.

Digitized by Google

Table II, an abstract of seizures of property for violation of internal revenue laws during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871.

Table I, showing the number of proof-gallons of spirits in each collection district, State, and Territory in the United States, exclusive of the quantity in internal revenue warehouses, May 1, 1871.

These tables exhibit the full result of the operations of this Bureau from its organization to the present time.

The aggregate receipts from all sources, exclusive of the direct tax upon lands, and the duty upon the circulation and deposits of national banks, were, for the fiscal year 1871, $144,011,176 24. This sum includes the amounts refunded and allowed on drawbacks.

Drawbacks have been allowed on general merchandise, under section 171, act of June 30, 1864, limited by the act of March 31, 1868, amounting to $22,887 97. This amount is larger than that allowed for the fiscal year 1870, on account of the adjudication of old claims for drawback on cotton goods rendered admissible by joint resolution No. 78, approved July 14, 1870.

There was refunded during the past fiscal year, for taxes illegally assessed and collected, the sum of $617,581 07. This large increase over the year preceding was due to the adjustment of claims that had been suspended during former years, for more complete consideration; for instance, the claim of one of the States which was embraced in the above aggregate, and amounting to $45,866, for taxes collected on dividends declared upon stock owned by the State. This was the largest claim ever allowed by the Bureau, and was referred to the Attorney General for his advice.

My estimate of the receipts for the current fiscal year under the present law is $125,000,000.

SPIRITS.

The number of distilleries (other than fruit) registered during the last fiscal year was	1,043
Number of fruit-distilleries registered	7,149
Total	8,192

Of the distilleries (other than fruit) 517 were operated during the year, and of the fruit-distilleries, 4,007.

The returns to this office for the last fiscal year show a total production in taxable gallons, from material other than fruit, of	54,576,446
From fruit	2,199,733
Total yearly production	56,776,179

SURVEYS OF DISTILLERIES.

Uniformity in estimating the spirit-producing capacity of distilleries being indispensable to a just and equal assessment of the tax, a classification of distilleries has been arrived at, based upon the different kinds of material used and the modes of operating; and rules have been given for estimating the capacity of each class, which experience has shown to be equally just to the Government and the distillers.

The local surveyors having been thoroughly instructed in their duties, the expense of making surveys will be materially lessened in the future.

SPIRIT-METERS.

By the annual report for 1870, page 7, it will be seen that Tice's Sample Meters, theretofore adopted and prescribed for use in distilleries, were then being tested for the purpose of determining their utility. The period within which distillers were required to procure meters was extended from time to time until the 8th day of June, 1871, when Circular No. 96 was issued discontinuing their use.

GAUGING INSTRUMENTS.

Correctness and uniformity in the weighing and gauging of spirits are necessary to a just collection of the tax and to avoid unnecessary detention of spirits in transit. These objects can only be attained by the use of instruments of the same standard.

To accomplish these objects, in addition to the hydrometer prescribed for use in 1867, there has been adopted what is known as the "Prime and McKean's Combination Gauging Rod," which is required to be used for determining the capacity of casks.

To secure accuracy in these instruments, arrangements have been made by which all hydrometers and gauging rods are inspected and tested in this office before being sent out for use.

Internal revenue gaugers are furnished with hydrometers at the expense of the Government, but are required to supply themselves with the combination rod at their own expense.

Digitized by Google

These instruments, distributed under the present system of inspection, seem to give general satisfaction, and their accuracy and uniformity have relieved the trade of the embarrassments resulting from errors in gauging.

FERMENTED LIQUORS.

The amount of tax received on fermented liquors at $1 per barrel was, for the years—

1866	$5,115,140 49	1869	$5,866,400 98
1867	5,819,345 49	1870	6,081,520 54
1868	5,685,663 70	1871	7,159,740 20

The increase for the year 1871, as shown in the above statement, is believed to be due, in part at least, to the greater attention given to that subject by internal revenue officers during that year. This attention has revealed some defects in the law, which call for early remedial legislation.

TOBACCO.

The total receipts from tobacco for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871, were $33,578,907 18. As compared with the receipts from the same source for the preceding fiscal year, the accompanying tables show the following results:

Year ended June 30, 1871, tobacco, chewing, &c., and snuff	$20,677,717 84
Year ended June 30, 1870, tobacco, chewing, &c., and snuff	19,708,780 61

Year ended June 30, 1871, from special taxes of tobacco and cigar manufacturers	$162,367 33
Year ended June 30, 1870, from special taxes of tobacco and cigar manufacturers	153,248 74
Increased collection from special taxes of tobacco and cigar manufacturers	9,118 59

Showing a total increase of $2,228,199 30 over the total amount of receipts from the same sources for the preceding fiscal year.

ANNUAL PRODUCTION.

The total amount of manufactured tobacco, represented by the amount of collections for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871, was as follows:

	Pounds
Chewing-tobacco, snuff, &c., class 32-cents	64,617,868
Smoking-tobacco, scraps, shorts, &c., class 16-cents	30,517,636
Add to this the quantity exported	10,621,082
And excess remaining in warehouses June 30, 1871, over June 30, 1870	72,377
Giving a total product for the year, of	105,828,963

The total number of cigars, cheroots, &c., on which taxes were collected, was 1,332,844,357.

The steady and uniform increase, from month to month, in the revenues derived from manufactured tobacco, cigars, &c., since the present law went into operation, by which the mode of collecting taxes on these articles was changed from an assessment after removal from the manufactory and sale, to a prepayment, by means of suitable stamps, before the goods are removed from the place of manufacture, has fully demonstrated the superiority of the present system over the former. Fewer frauds are possible where the taxes are required to be paid at the manufactory, and before the goods are allowed to go upon the market, and where every package is required to bear upon it the evidence that the tax has been paid. But, notwithstanding the encouraging progress that has been made toward a thorough and complete collection of the revenues from this source, I am forced to the conclusion that, during the last fiscal year, much tobacco has escaped taxation through the refilling of empty stamped packages, the second use of stamps, the use of counterfeit stamps, the removal of small quantities from the place of manufacture without stamps, and stamping as class 16-cents, tobacco which, under the law, should have been stamped at the rate of 32 cents per pound.

UNIFORM RATE OF TAX.

The present law imposes on all chewing-tobacco a tax of 32 cents per pound, and the same rate on all smoking-tobacco from which any portion of the stems has been removed. But practically all smoking-tobacco, with slight exceptions, is claimed to be taxable only at the rate of 16 cents, and no one except the manufacturer knows or can know whether it contains all the stems which are natural to the leaf, or a less quantity. The natural leaf, cut with all the stems in, is, previous to being so cut, put through a process of sweetening, to fit it for chewing purposes, thus making it actually chewing-tobacco, though sold under the name of smoking-tobacco and stamped class 16-cents. By the manipulations of some manufacturers the fine-cut shorts, "which have passed through a riddle of 36 meshes to the square inch by process of sifting," constitute the bulk of their products and are used as chewing-tobacco, though paying a tax of only 16 cents per pound, while sweetened scraps, a product of plug manufacturers, are put up in large quantities and sold under the 16-cent tax for chewing purposes. A uniform rate of tax, while it would allow every manufacturer to manipulate his products in his own way without restrictions being placed upon his modes of manufacturing, would effectually close the door to the perpetration of fraud or the evasion of taxes by their improper classifications.

Digitized by Google

RESULTS OF A UNIFORM TAX AT DIFFERENT RATES.

From the tables presented in this report it will be seen that more than two-thirds of the manufactured tobacco which reached taxation during the last fiscal year paid the tax of 32 cents per pound, yielding four-fifths of the revenue which was collected directly from the article by stamps. Had a tax been collected at a uniform rate of 32 cents per pound on the entire product of manufactured tobacco which reached taxation during the last fiscal year, the receipts therefrom would have been $30,443,361 28. Adding to this sum the taxes collected on cigars, the special taxes of manufacturers of tobacco and cigars, of dealers in leaf, and dealers in manufactured tobacco, &c., the total receipts would have been $38,461,728 79. Similar calculations show that a uniform tax of 24 cents per pound on the same quantity would have realized the sum of $30,850,888 47, and that a uniform rate of 16 cents per pound would have realized the sum of $23,240,048 15. Thus, it will be seen that on the assumption that the same number of pounds would have reached taxation had the rate of tax been uniform, either at 16, 24, or 32 cents per pound, a uniform rate of 32 cents would have increased the revenue by the sum of $4,882,821 61, while a uniform rate of 24 or 16 cents would have diminished those receipts in the sums respectively of $2,728,018 71 and $10,338,859 03. I am aware that it is contended by those who advocate a reduction of the tax to a uniform rate of 16 cents per pound that the increased consumption which would result from such a reduction, and the greater number of pounds which would reach taxation, would nearly, if not quite, compensate for the reduction in the rate. I am unable, however, to see any well-grounded reason for such a conclusion—first, because such a reduction would have little, if any, tendency to increase the consumption of smoking tobacco, as nearly all smoking-tobacco now pays but 16 cents tax; secondly, such a reduction alone would not tend to diminish the quantity of raw or leaf tobacco consumed, for most of the leaf-tobacco sold directly to consumers is used for smoking purposes, and the motive to smoke untaxed leaf would not be removed or lessened by diminishing the tax on chewing-tobacco; thirdly, because whatever increase in consumption there might be from such a reduction in the rate must necessarily be of chewing-tobacco, of plug, twist, fine-cut, &c., and of snuff, and of these the consumption would have to be doubled, making it one hundred and twenty-eight millions of pounds, where it is now only sixty-four millions of pounds, in order to obtain the same amount of revenue as was collected the last fiscal year. Such an increase in the consumption of chewing-tobacco is not to be expected.

My own opinion is, that with the tax at 24 cents, taking into account the natural increase of the revenue as shown between the collections of succeeding years, and with the advantage of some legislation hereinafter recommended, we shall be able to keep the collections on tobacco up to those under the present rates.

This recommendation, however, is made without regard to its relation to future total revenue results. If it should be the opinion of Congress that the yield of revenue from internal taxes should not be materially decreased, then, to accomplish the desirable results expected from a consolidation of the tax on tobacco, and to compensate in part to the revenue the expected large loss from the expiration of the income-tax during the current fiscal year, and the further material loss from "Articles and occupations formerly taxed but now exempt," (a rapidly decreasing item, of course,) I would advise a consolidation of the tobacco tax at 32 cents per pound.

PEDDLERS OF TOBACCO.

I am satisfied, from the evidence which has accumulated at this office, that much of the fraud above-referred-to is effected through the instrumentality of peddlers.

In order to put an end to this illicit traffic some additional legislation is required. I would, therefore, recommend that every person who sells or offers to sell manufactured tobacco, snuff, or cigars from wagons in the manner of peddlers traveling from place to place, be required to pay a special tax of fifteen, twenty-five, or fifty dollars, according as they travel with one, two, or more horses or mules, and to comply with such regulations as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

SALE OF LEAF-TOBACCO TO CONSUMERS.

For the last three years this office has been in possession of information that a large and increasing amount of raw or leaf tobacco, in portions of the country, was being sold at retail directly to consumers without the payment of tax. Evidences of this traffic have, from time to time, been furnished by assessors and collectors, and more especially by supervisors, who, in taking transcripts from the books required by law to be kept by leaf-dealers, have reported that they find scores of pages of these books where entries were made of sales from one-half pound to four pounds each; and I am constantly in receipt of letters from manufacturers of tobacco, complaining of the injury to their business arising from such sales, and informing me that in some localities where they formerly received frequent and large orders for manufactured tobacco they now make no sales, the same parties who used to make these orders now ordering instead supplies of natural leaf from the wholesale leaf-dealers. Against this traffic, grown to such large proportions, so injurious to their business as manufacturers, and prejudicial to the interest of the Government revenue, they ask to be protected.

To this end, I would recommend that section 59 of the act of July 20, 1868, be so amended as to impose a special tax of five hundred dollars on every person who shall make a business of selling raw or leaf-tobacco to persons other than those who have paid special tax as leaf-dealers, or as manufacturers of tobacco, snuff, or cigars, or who shall sell leaf-tobacco in quantities less than twenty-five pounds, or who shall sell such tobacco directly to consumers, or for consumption without its being manufactured. And if this is not deemed sufficient, I would further recommend such a tax on the sales of such dealers in excess of $5,000 annually as would be equivalent to the tax on the same amount and value of manufactured tobacco. Such a provision of law will not only give the required protection to the manufacturer who now pays a special tax for carrying on his business, in addition to a specific tax on all his products, but it will also, I am persuaded, tend largely to increase the Government revenue from this source.

EXPORT BONDED WAREHOUSES.

In the absence of any provision of law providing for drawback on manufactured tobacco and snuff when exported, the law has provided for a system of export bonded warehouses to be established at any port of entry in the United States for the storage of manufactured tobacco and snuff intended for exportation.

Under this provision of law there are now in operation sixteen export bonded warehouses, two having been established during the last fiscal year, viz, one at the port of Mobile, Alabama, and one at Portland, Oregon, while one of those previously established at Philadelphia has been discontinued.

The quantity of tobacco, &c., stored in the several export bonded warehouses during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871, was as follows:

	Pounds.
Fourth district, Massachusetts	1,503,867
Thirty-second district, New York	12,799,611
Second district, Pennsylvania	2,606,556
Third district, Maryland	3,060,556

Digitized by Google

	Pounds.
Third district, Virginia	2,638,529
First district, Louisiana	1,547,035
First district, California	2,158,883
First district, Oregon	64,167
Total amount	26,379,264

The quantity withdrawn for exportation from the several export bonded warehouses during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871, was as follows:

	Pounds.
Fourth district, Massachusetts	853,724
Thirty-second district, New York	6,699,688
Second district, Pennsylvania	40,838
Third district, Maryland	218,916
Third district, Virginia	2,630,175
First district, Louisiana	10,355
First district, California	167,387
Total quantity exported	10,621,083

WITHDRAWN FOR CONSUMPTION.

The quantity withdrawn for consumption on payment of the tax, from the several bonded warehouses, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871, was as follows:

	Pounds.
Fourth district, Massachusetts	521,237
Thirty-second district, New York	2,464,979
Second district, Pennsylvania	2,658,736
Third district, Maryland	2,435,503
Third district, Virginia	32,784
First district, Louisiana	1,431,287
First district, California	1,930,164
First district, Oregon	24,969
Total for consumption	11,499,659

These figures show that less than half of the tobacco, &c., removed in bond from the manufactories, is actually exported. From the eight bonded warehouses established at the several ports of Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, San Francisco, and Portland, Oregon, in which were stored during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1871, 9,437,257 pounds of manufactured tobacco, only 437,495 pounds during this period were withdrawn for exportation, while 8,480,656 pounds were withdrawn for consumption on payment of the tax.

Nearly nine-tenths of all the tobacco exported from the country is shipped through the bonded warehouses at New York and Richmond, Virginia; and of this a large portion is never stored in the bonded warehouses. The shipments are made directly from the factories, the goods being carted by the warehouses, and only constructively entered therein, though the owners thereof are charged with a month's storage.

The practical operation of this system of bonded warehouses hitherto has been to give to a few individuals and firms, more particularly to the proprietors of the warehouses, the same facilities for storing tobacco without the prepayment of the tax as were given by the former system of Class B, bonded warehouses, abolished by the act of July 20, 1868.

It is my own opinion, and, so far as I have been able to ascertain, it is the opinion of manufacturers of tobacco generally, that the present system of export bonded warehouses can be entirely abolished to the interest both of the Government and of the manufacturers.

Under the present system all the tobacco bonded at the warehouse in Richmond, Virginia, is exported without ever entering the warehouse, and the same is true of much of the tobacco bonded in New York.

By abolishing the present system of export bonded warehouses, and providing for the exportation of manufactured tobacco, snuff, and cigars, as other merchandise is exported, allowing a drawback of the tax paid upon proof of landing abroad, requiring the tobacco to be loaded under the supervision of an inspector, and the tax-paid stamps to be destroyed by said officer to prevent relanding, it is believed a large portion of the expenses now incurred by the manufacturers in exporting their goods would be saved, the Government would receive the taxes on all goods when removed from the place of manufacture, all jobbers and dealers in manufactured tobacco would be placed on the same footing with regard to the trafficin tax paid goods, and the special privileges and advantages enjoyed by a few individuals and firms would be removed.

I would recommend that Congress provide that evidence of the loss at sea satisfactory to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall have all the force of a landing certificate for the purposes of drawback.

Other systems of exportation designed to remedy the evils of the present bonded warehouse system have been suggested; but they involve the multiplying of bonds to be taken in lieu of tax. A multiplication of such bonds would result in an increase of losses to the Government. The records of the United States courts in many sections of the country are largely occupied by suits on bonds taken for spirits and refined petroleum, under similar systems tothose proposed. In a large majority of the cases, the principals being insolvent generally before suit was brought, the sureties have either not been found on original process; or, if found, a return of no goods on final process has realized to the Government a total loss of its supposed security.

STAMPS.

Since the last annual report of the Commissioner, contracts have been made for printing revenue stamps as follows, viz: With Mr. Joseph R. Carpenter, of Philadelphia, for documentary and proprietary stamps; with the Continental Bank Note Company of New York, for printing tints for distilled spirits and tobacco stamps; with the National Bank

Digitized by Google

Note Company of New York, for printing tints for beer stamps. These contracts were awarded to the lowest bidders possessing the facilities for doing the work, after due publication of advertisements for proposals in the newspapers of the various leading cities in the United States.

Important changes have been made in the materials and manner of preparing stamps in order to prevent fraudulent issues, counterfeiting, and re-use. Heretofore nearly all the issues of revenue stamps have been printed in a single color upon ordinary commercial paper furnished by the parties doing the printing. By the changes referred to, the Government provides a distinctive paper, and permits the printing of stamps upon no other, and requires that all stamps shall be printed in two or more colors.

It is well known that the revenue derived from stamps has seriously suffered through the fraudulent re-use of stamps. It has been found no difficult matter on the part of evil-disposed persons, by the use of chemicals carefully manipulated, to remove the cancellation-marks entirely without injuring the appearance of the stamps, thus enabling dishonest parties to re-use them, or to sell the same for re-use, and defraud the Government to that extent.

It is believed that the stamps now being furnished under the contracts alluded to, cannot be tampered with. Especially is this thought to be the case with the adhesive, and tobacco, snuff, and cigar stamps printed upon chameleon paper. This paper so effectually changes its color upon the application of chemical agents employed for the restoring of stamps for re-use, as to render restoration to its original state impossible. In addition to the protection afforded by this paper, a soluble ink is used in the preparation of adhesive stamps. This ink contains the ingredients of ordinary writing ink; any acid or alkali of sufficient strength to remove the cancellation made would destroy also that portion of the stamp which is printed in the soluble ink.

By printing the stamps in two or more colors, counterfeiting, which has been largely practiced by photography, becomes impossible.

Another feature in the present issue is, that with the exception of the documentary and proprietary stamps, none are allowed to be entirely prepared by any single establishment.

The New York Bank Note Company print the tints only of certain stamps, while the Bureau of Engraving and Printing finishes and delivers them to this office, from whence they are issued to collectors.

The paper used for printing these stamps was adopted especially for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury, upon the recommendation of this office, and is manufactured by Messrs. Jas. M. Willcox & Co., of Glenn Mills, Pennsylvania, under Government supervision. It is not lawful for any one to manufacture this paper, or to sell or have it in possession, except by authority of the Department.

It may be added that the average cost of the present series of stamps is considerably less per thousand than that of the previous issue.

ADDITIONAL RECOMMENDATIONS.

I fully approve, and would here renew, the following recommendation made in last year's report by the then Commissioner, Mr. Delano:

The act of July 14, 1870, exempted from taxation, under schedule C, canned and preserved fish, leaving prepared mustard, sauces, sirups, jams, and jellies still liable to the stamp tax. These articles being either condiments or conserves, and generally of home or culinary production, never having been a fruitful source of revenue, and the collection of the tax thereon always attended with no inconsiderable amount of trouble and vexation, I would recommend that they hereafter be relieved from the stamp tax now imposed upon them under the clause in schedule C relating to "canned meats," &c.

There are now in the hands of collectors and United States marshals, stored in bonded warehouses and elsewhere, considerable quantities of condemned, forfeited, and abandoned tobacco, so depreciated in value that it cannot be sold for enough to pay charges and for the necessary stamps. This tobacco was manufactured under the old law; consequently it is unstamped. Under the present law it cannot be sold or offered for sale without first being properly stamped, and there is no provision of law under which the Commissioner of Internal Revenue can furnish stamps for it. The want of authority to furnish stamps for such tobacco, which is constantly accumulating in the hands of Government officers, has caused much embarrassment. I would therefore earnestly recommend that Congress authorize the Commissioner, upon the requisition of the officers having the custody and control of such tobacco, to furnish suitable revenue stamps to be attached and cancelled before the same is offered for sale.

It frequently happens that tax-paid stamps are lost from packages of spirits by unavoidable accident, without fault on the part of the persons nterested, the spirits being thus exposed to seizure and detention. The present law makes no provision for re-stamping such packages, except on the re-payment of the tax. Inasmuch as the stamp is a device to protect alike the interests of the Government and the tax-payer, it is considered that authority should be given to complete that protection by re-stamping.

It was recommended last year by Mr. Commissioner Delano that Congress provide, by joint resolution or otherwise, for the remission of all taxes assessed on ship-builders under the fourth section of the act of March 31, 1868, as had not been collected. No action, however, was taken upon the subject, and not feeling at liberty to allow further delay, I have ordered their collection.

Section 44 of the act of June 30, 1864, gives to the Commissioner, "subject to regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury," authority to abate and refund taxes and penalties in certain classes of cases. One of these regulations (Circular 79) provides in effect that no claim or application for the refunding of taxes will be entitled to consideration by the Commissioner, unless it shall be filed with him either prior to August 4, 1871, (Circular 79 having been issued August 3, 1869,) or within two years from the date of the payment of the tax.

It will be observed that this simply affects the question of the consideration by the Commissioner of claims thus barred, but does not, it is claimed, limit any right of action upon them.

One of my predecessors, Mr. Rollins, in his report for 1868, remarks upon this subject as follows:

> The authority vested in the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to refund taxes erroneously collected has been the means of preventing much expensive litigation, and has afforded speedy and inexpensive relief to many persons who have been compelled to pay more than was legally due. While a withdrawal of this authority would be productive of great hardship in many cases, I am satisfied that a statutory limitation of the time within which such claims must be presented would tend to prevent much abuse. When the legality of an assessment is not seriously questioned at the time it is made, the evidence in its support is very apt to disappear with a change in the officers of the district; and it is not then difficult for a skillful attorney to present reasons in support of a claim for refunding such as are hard to be set aside.

I would recommend that the Commissioner be prohibited from considering or allowing any claim not presented within two years from the time the tax was paid; and that all claims be barred in the courts after six years from the date of payment of the tax.

Section 44 of the act of July 20, 1868, should, in my opinion, be amended by making the minimum penalty smaller, such penalty being now a fine of not less than $1,000, with not less than six months imprisonment. The undue severity of this punishment would seem to be obvious as applied to the offenses of carrying on the business of a retail or wholesale liquor dealer, rectifier, or manufacturer of stills, "without having paid the special tax," in cases wherein no intent to defraud exists, the omission arising from ignorance of the law, or other circumstances not fraudulent, yet constituting no legal excuse under the terms of the section. The practical effect of providing so disproportionate a punishment for these offenses is to discourage complaints, defeat convictions, and induce suspensions of sentence, in many cases in which some reasonable punishment should be enforced, as well to vindicate the law as to secure future compliance with its requirements.

Section 63 of the act of July 13, 1866, (p. 31, of Compilation of 1867,) should be amended to make it apply to cases arising under any internal revenue act. As it is now, it applies only to offenses under that act of 1866, and previous act, to which it was an amendment. I would also recommend that the limitation of amount should be extended from $300 to $500, as contained in the parallel provision of the customs laws, (section 11 of act of July 18, 1866, 14 Stat. at Large, p. 180.)

I would call attention to the report of last year in relation to the subject of "direct taxes," and would renew the recommendation of early legislation for the final disposition of all lands which have been acquired and are now owned by the United States under the direct-tax laws.

COLLECTORS' ACCOUNTS.

The complaint which has heretofore existed of delay in the settlement of ex-collectors' accounts has been, it is believed, entirely removed by the operation of the regulations of this office now in force.

Prior to April, 1870, it appeared that the accounts of 61 ex-collectors had been closed, which number, however, has since been increased to 434, leaving at the present time 230 accounts still open. Of this number 115 have been placed in the hands of United States attorneys for suit on the bonds of the delinquent collectors, the residue being in course of adjustment at this office.

Respectfully,

J. W. DOUGLASS,
Commissioner.

Hon. GEORGE S. BOUTWELL,
Secretary of the Treasury.

THE

RECEIPTS FROM EACH SPECIFIC SOURCE OF REVENUE,

AND THE

AMOUNTS REFUNDED IN EACH COLLECTION DISTRICT, STATE, AND TERRITORY OF THE UNITED STATES,

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1871.

NOTE.—The repeal of the tax on gross receipts, sales, (other than sales paid by stamps and sales of tobacco, spirits, and wines,) legacies, successions, articles in Schedule A, passports, and the special tax on boats, barges, and flats, took effect October 1, 1870.

Four full monthly assessments only, viz, from June to September inclusive, were collected from each of the above sources, except passports during the fiscal year 1871.

The repeal of special taxes, except those relating to spirits, tobacco, fermented liquors, and the special tax on boats, barges, and flats, went into effect May 1, 1871.

In the following table, descriptions of collections on income assessed under act of July 14, 1870, are printed in italics.

The districts below named having been annexed to, and become parts of, other districts, made their last separate returns as follows: Fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh districts of New York, in February, 1871; second California, second Ohio, and third Pennsylvania, in March, 1871.

* The receipts for October, 1870, were $1,083,113 17; $1,850, the difference between this amount and that above given, is a counter-error for an error of the same amount reported in the receipts for June, 1870. The total receipts for the fiscal years 1870 and 1871 are now, therefore, correct.
